WORK EXPERIENCE

BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT OFFICER - Waren Law Advocates LLP, Nakuru, Kenya

Employer: Janice Wachuka

From July 2026 – Present

- Identify potential corporate clients, SACCOs, financial institutions, and other organizations with potential demand for legal services.
- Identify the appropriate head offices, departments, and decision-makers responsible for legal service provider appointments, empanelment, and allocation of legal work.
- Research organizational structures and establish the correct contacts and channels for panel appointments, pre-qualification, legal service engagements, and work allocation.
- Engage prospective clients through field visits, calls, emails, and professional introductions to establish business relationships and understand their legal service needs.
- Create and maintain a pipeline of prospective clients, tracking opportunities from identification through follow-up and conversion.
- Pursue opportunities for empanelment, pre-qualification, SLAs, legal service partnerships, and potential legal instructions.
- Present the firm's profile and legal service offerings to relevant decision-makers and prospective clients.
- Follow up with SACCOs and other organizations on whose panels the firm has been appointed but from which it has not received work, in order to reinforce the firm's position and identify opportunities for activation.
- Structure follow-up conversations to establish who is responsible for decisions on the allocation of legal work and determine the process and criteria used for assigning matters to panel firms.
- Identify and investigate any issues affecting the firm's activation on client panels, including administrative, compliance, relationship, performance, or communication-related barriers, and escalate them appropriately.
- Conduct regular follow-ups with prospects and existing panel clients to develop relationships, address barriers, and progress identified opportunities.
- Coordinate with the legal team to facilitate the conversion of business-development opportunities into legal instructions.
- Maintain accurate records of prospects, contacts, panel appointments, engagements, follow-ups, opportunities, work allocations, issues identified, and outcomes.
- Support the conversion of identified opportunities into revenue-generating legal matters for the firm.
