PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

HR professional with experience supporting people operations, HR systems, recruitment, employee records, payroll administration and performance management across remote and international environments. I enjoy using technology and data to make HR processes simpler, more organised and more effective.

I have hands on experience working with HR information systems, improving employee data management, supporting recruitment and onboarding, maintaining confidential records and contributing to HR strategy. I am also developing my software engineering skills, giving me a growing ability to connect people, processes and technology.
