Re: Application for HR Officer Job

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the Human Resource Officer role in your organization. I hold a Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration and Management (St. Paul's University), a Diploma in Human Resource Management (University of Nairobi) and the Certified Human Resource Professional (CHRP) qualification, and I am in the process of acquiring Associate Membership with the Institute of Human Resource Management (IHRM). My experience spans recruitment, employee relations, performance management and compliance across manufacturing, healthcare and financial services.

Currently, I am an HR Coordinator at Imara Avocado Factory (EPZ), where I coordinate day-to-day HR operations, including recruitment and onboarding, employee records, attendance and leave for payroll, disciplinary and grievance procedures, support policy implementation and engagement initiatives. I work closely with other departmental heads to streamline operations, align staffing needs, coordinate training and uphold occupational health and safety standards, so that HR processes support each department's goals rather than slow them down.

Earlier, as a Human Resource Intern at Machakos Level 5 Hospital, I supported end-to-end recruitment, maintained confidential records, assisted with payroll data and staff arrears, coordinated training, handled HR correspondence and grievances, and improved HR filing and performance management systems.

What sets my work apart is emotional intelligence. I listen carefully, stay composed in difficult conversations and handle sensitive matters with empathy and fairness. I value people as human beings first and employees second, because employees who feel respected and understood are more engaged and productive. I am also proficient in HRIS systems, Microsoft Office Suite and HR reporting.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my HR expertise, collaborative approach and people-first values can benefit your organization.

Yours Faithfully,

Cynthia Wanjiru Burugu
